COOLIDGE DECLINES THE LEAGUE'S BID

STRINGS TO INVITATION NOT TO PRESIDENT'S LIKING

Administration Refuses To Send Delegate To Conference To Explain Senate's Views,—Geneva Wonders ---Consideration of American Reservations Only Routine, Reply To Washington.

President Coolidge feels that the League of Nations' invitation to the United States to participate in the world court conference in Geneva in September should not be accepted.

He takes the position that the senate reservations speak for themselves and, therefore, it is not necessary to send a delegate to Geneva to explain them.

In view of his attitude, made clear Friday at the White House, it appears certain that the League invitation, received by Secretary Kellogg, will be declined with thanks.

As the situation shaped up altho no reply has been forwarded to Geneva, only unexpected developments would cause the president to change his mind.

He clearly approves of the direct negotiations the state department has initiated with the 48 governments signatory to the world court protocol, and sees no reason why it cannot be determined in this way whether the United States is to enter the court under the senate stipulations.

League of Nations circles expressed astonishment on receipt of dispatches from Washington saying that the action of the League in sending a circular letter to the members of the world court, inviting them to a conference to consider the American reservations, had caused surprise in official circles of the American capital. Officials of the League said that however Washington may have felt about the council's original decision to convoke a conference for the purpose of discussing the reservations put forward by the United States in connection with her becoming a member of the court and the invitation to the United States to participate in the discussions, there can be no justification for surprise over the actual dispatch of the invitations.

These officials explained that the sending out of the circular letter to the court signatories was nothing but routine procedure called for by the decision of the council.

It was added that the sending out of a circular letter is the practice always adopted when the League arranges for international conferences, it was sent only to the members of the court and not the members of the League. Not all the members of the League are members of the court, and the council, it was emphasized, wishes to keep the American reservation question as one entirely the concern of the members of the court.

As was the case in the invitation dispatched by the League to the United States, the League's letter to United States, and to the court signatories, encloses the text of the minutes of the council meeting which adopted the proposal to call the conference.

RARE OLD TESTAMENT.

Elmira, Ohio, April 3, (UP).—John Stettler, of this city, is exhibiting an old testament that he believes is valuable. It was brought here from Germany many years ago; the title page reads as follows:

"To Titus, the first ordained bishop of the church of Crete, written by Nicholas in Macedonia. The prophets of the old testament in German by Martin Luther. Printed in the year of Christ, A. D. 1573."

The testament is in a good state of preservation and is printed in German.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

Toledo, O., April 3, (UP).—Conscience was responsible for the return of money lost 20 years ago to the News-Bee.

The loser advertised the loss at the time but the unidentified finder was able to still his voice of conscience until today. A checkup of ads is being made to locate the owner or his heirs. Ordinary interest alone during the last 20 years would more than double the loss, it was said.

WOMAN SCIENTIST

Dr. Eloise B. Cram, woman scientist at the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, photographed at her microscope in the laboratory where she is seeking information of diseases which annually cause a great financial loss to keepers of chickens. Doctor Cram is now working on diseases of the digestive tract.

Circleville Hardware Store.

M. E. Carmean, of Marysville, has placed on sale the entire stock of the Circleville Hardware company and beginning today will dispose of the stock at auction.

This is the 34th stock of merchandise that Mr. Carmean has had to dispose of and he cleans them out entirely and quickly.

DOG COMPENSATION.

Toledo, O., April 3, (UP).—Fred Hill, a farmer, will have to pay his neighbor, Ray Dicham, $75 to compensate him for a dog which Hill is said to have shot October 1, 1924. A jury in common pleas court awarded this amount to Dicham.

This battles of advanced civilization have been fought in the world of ideas rather than the world of brute force. Whether applied by government or bandit brute force gets us nowhere.

Columbus.—An appeal seeking a review of the appellate court's reversal of the conviction of Sol Peskind and Ben Karp, Cleveland, on a charge of converting to their own use $242,000 worth of securities belonging to the Municipal Savings and Loan company of Cleveland, was filed in the state supreme court Friday by Attorney General Crabbe.

Toledo.—One woman was overcome by smoke, a fireman was injured and thirty families were driven to the streets today when fire swept the basement of the Berkshire apartments here.

Altho the blaze was confined to the basement, dense clouds of smoke filtered into the apartments above, causing the occupants to flee in panic.

Mrs. Bessie M. Wiley was trapped in her apartment and was overcome. Firemen carried her to the street. Fireman William Rooney was injured when several bricks fell on him.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Bellaire.—Six of the largest soft coal mines in southeastern Ohio located in Belmont and Jefferson counties, the principal coal producing regions of the state—suspended operations Friday leaving 1800 miners without employment.

In announcing the suspensions, the mine owners said they were unable to operate profitably under terms of the Jacksonville wage scale negotiated in 1924 and in competition with the non-union mines of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Columbus, O., —Mildred Katherine Pfeifer, Columbus' seven week-old "incubator" baby, died in a hospital here Friday. Mildred Katherine, at birth, weighed only one pound and three ounces. She was placed in a hospital baby "incubator" where she spent the remainder of her life.

While engaged in the incubator, the infant gained two pounds and six ounces. Until a few days ago it was believed she would live.

ORDER ASSETS TURNED OVER TO RECEIVERS

Cleveland Discount Company Affairs are Being Administered by Court.

Cleveland, O., April 2, (UP).—Common Pleas Judge A. J. Pearson today ordered W. L. David and Gardner Abbot, receivers for the defunct $30,000,000 Cleveland Discount company, to turn over to the Cleveland Securities corporation, all assets of the discount concern.

The securities corporation was recently formed by the receivers to liquidate unsecured claims against the Discount company, which formerly was headed by Josiah Kirby, now under sentence to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Under the plan worked out by the receivers, all holders of unsecured claims were given common stock in the securities corporation. Preferred stockholders also exchanged their stock for securities company stock.

The final report of the receivers will be made within a few weeks, it was announced unless the court orders suits brought against the former directors for the recovery of money lost by investors.

WILMINGTON MAN SUICIDES ON THE TRAIN

Columbus.—Ben Roach, 50, Wilmington store keeper, shot and killed himself Wednesday night on a B. & O. passenger train plying between Wilmington and Cincinnati, it became known Friday.

Details of the suicide were brought to Columbus by a B. & O. brakeman who said Roach wrote a note to "Dusty" Miller, Wilmington newspaperman who was on the train, then walked to the wash-room of his coach and shot himself.

The tenor of the farewell missive was that Roach had been a failure in life.

"I cannot bear it any longer," he wrote. "I am unable to provide for my wife and child, the things that I would like to give them."

They Never Get Out.

The Washington police have been instructed to be courteous, even in knocking a man down. Have any congressman been getting into trouble?—Philadelphia Record.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Robert, the three year old son of Grace Fowler Bookwalter, who makes her home at the Hotel Tremont was knocked down by an auto Friday afternoon on Western avenue, and was severely injured. The boy ran directly in front of the automobile driven by Miss Rader, daughter of William Rader.

The child was removed to Dr. H. D. Jackson's office where he was given medical attention and his wounds were dressed. Dr. Jackson is of the opinion that the boy is injured internally.

OLD "SOUP DOUGH"

Old "Soup Dough" George Carson won his final contest against one of the largest smelting companies in the West for $20,000,000 in royalties on patent rights to an improved ore reduction process. Carson has no idea what he is going to do with the money which he won through the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals. "Court decisions are one thing and cash is another," said old "Soup Dough."

MISS DAVIS ILL.

Miss Margaret Davis, beauty culture operator at the Crist department store, who has been ill at the home of Mrs. J. J. Renick on Watt street for the past two weeks, was removed to Columbus Friday evening and taken to her home in Springfield for recuperation and rest. She will probably be able to resume her duties again in a short time.

THE SICK.

Mrs. C. A. Patton, probation officer is ill of the grip.

Miss Jemima Dungan, of East Mill street, was seriously ill Friday of acute indigestion.

PAINT PROBE IN PROGRESS BY AUDITOR

Will Go to Findlay to Investigate Actions of the State Highway Department.

Columbus, O., April 2, (UP).—State Auditor Tracy today resumed his investigation of alleged irregularities in the state agricultural department, extending his probe to Cleveland where he is seeking information concerning paint contracts awarded to the Empire Paint & Varnish company.

Testimony previously given at the inquiry, tended to show the Cleveland company was awarded a contract for 600 gallons of paint for state fair buildings, altho its bid was considerably higher than those of competing companies.

The name of Former Judge David L. Rockwell, Ravenna, who is said to be interested in the Empire firm, was brought into the records as "having been a party to negotiations that resulted in the award."

Auditor Tracy said he expected to interview officials of the company regarding letters that have been submitted as evidence and which have been interpreted as revealing the Cleveland company was favored over its competitors.

Taking of testimony in the investigation will be resumed Monday, Tracy said, and the probe may be completed Tuesday. Tracy then expects to go to Findlay and other cities in connection with his investigation of the state highway department.

WM. GALBREATH

Died at Home of Brother in Mt. Sterling—Funeral Services Saturday.

William Galbreath died at the home of his brother, Herman Galbreath, in Mt. Sterling Friday afternoon aged 65 years.

The deceased was born in Muhlenberg township, this county. He was a son of Robert and Sarah Hill Galbreath.

Mr. Galbreath never married. Of his immediate family he is survived by three brothers; Herman Galbreath, of Mt. Sterling; Frank Galbreath, of Columbus; and Robert Galbreath, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Will G. Hamilton and Frank Hamilton are nephews and Mrs. N. G. Hamilton is a first cousin of the deceased.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the home of his brother, in Mt. Sterling at 2 o'clock. Burial in the Muhlenberg cemetery at Darbyville.

Miss Louise Mason went to Columbus today to visit her friend, Miss Genevieve Metzger.

ELEVATOR AT KINGSTON WAS BADLY DAMAGED

The Snyder Milling company's elevator at Kingston caught fire Friday afternoon and was nearly destroyed. While loading corn, the belt caught fire when the machinery stalled.

The top and second floor of the elevator was destroyed.

Herbert Snyder manages the mill for the lessee, Robert Immel, of Yellowbud. The loss is covered by insurance.

At last accounts many of the wage slaves whose hard lot is so pitied by the revolutionists, were trying to decide what kind of a car to buy this spring.

Sincere Hospitality

Simple Living-Rooms Favored

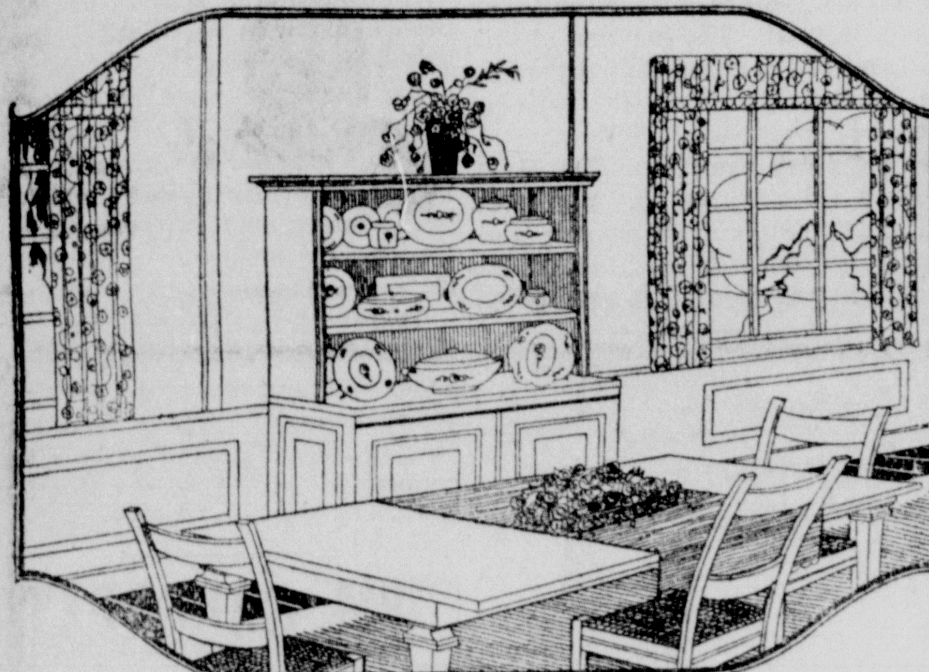

AMERICAN homes are rapidly regaining that simplicity which characterized the best homes of Colonial days. The ornate and the showily useless, of a later period, passed with the Victorian era. In this jazzy, nerve-racking age, we are beginning to crave quiet, restful effects in our home environments; always excepting the kitchen, dining-room or sun-room, where the gaiety of bright colors is needed.

Plain, painted walls, light in tone have come into general favor, because they provide the most effective background, reflect the most light and are easily cleaned. A beamed ceiling of dark-finished wood adds a touch of dignity. The mantel overcrowded with knick-knacks is a thing of the past. A stately ship-model is now the preferred center-piece, flanked by wrought-iron or brass candlesticks, or by bowls containing vines or flowers.

In library or living-room, a few handsome pieces of mahogany may be relieved by a single painted chair or small table, to add a warmer touch. Pictures are few and choice, and a silk batik or India print is sometimes the only decoration on an entire wall. Such an interior best expresses the true meaning of the word, "home."

Cheerful Dining-Rooms

THE dining-room should be one of the cheeriest rooms in the house. The stateliness of oak-paneled walls hung with family portraits is suitable only to the palatial mansion. In the average modern home, planned for coziness, the place where we gather to eat our meals is bright with gay colors, sunshine and flowers, an environment conducive to that cheerful frame of mind which aids digestion.

Walls, woodwork and furniture may be painted to carry out a certain color-scheme. For instance, walls of a light, golden tan form a pleasing background for furniture painted peacock-blue with black striping. The rug on the black floor combines the peacock-blue and gold tints. The china-cupboard is painted black on the outside, and the same vivid blue on the inside. The handy tea-wagon is painted blue and black, like the furniture. The wood-work of the room is black. The accessories, such as window-drapes, wall-piece, candlesticks and vase or bowl of flowers, are in gold and blue, with an additional effective touch of scarlet. There is a sense of the vibrant beauty of the Orient in a room of such coloring.

MEN'S DRESS

By W.A. Churchill, Secretary

BORN TAILORS GUILD

Trousers Versus Breeches

WHY should trousers be considered the mark of the inferior, and knee breeches and their equivalent the suitable garments of the freeman, the aristocrat and the man of fashion? This was true for centuries until trousers were generally adopted during the first quarter of the past century. Even today knee breeches must be worn at the Court of St. James in England and, to come nearer home, knickers have been accepted for sports wear.

"Breeched barbarians" is what the Romans contemptuously called the early Gauls and Saxons because of their coarse hemp trousers. The oldest pair in existence have been found in the peat field of Denmark. They are over two thousand years old and are made of some sort of coarse, felted wool. Early trousers were literally a pair, each leg being separate, like the picturesque chaps of the American cowboy. They were held up by a drawstring or belt run through loops at the top.

Way back in the Middle Ages the trouser disappeared from polite society and in its place came the high hose or tights with the long and full-skirted coat. Even menials wore doublets and hose and peasants wore the full smock of coarse linen.

Beau Brummel is credited with introducing the trouser, or as it was called, the pantaloons, as the proper garment of the gentleman. Other accounts have it that the women of the French revolution first assumed them in place of skirts to show their equality with men. However, the innovation was not adopted without a struggle. The duke of Wellington was refused admittance to a formal ball because he was wearing trousers, while President Monroe in 1817 was the last man in public office in this country to wear knee breeches.

At that time a man showed his politics by his trousers or breeches, the former being the badge of the Republicans and the latter of the Royalists. But once the trouser triumphed, what a series of variations it went through! The first pantaloons were tight fitting and buttoned down the side around the calf. Then they were opened over the hip and equipped with buttons and loops. This was discarded for step and straps under the shoe in the manner of spats today. Some were funnel-shaped, others pleated at the waist and still others even boasted tucks around the bottom. At last the style stabilized and only after a century of quiet unassuming cut has the trouser dared to spread out a bit and to take on a note of color.

OVER THREE HUNDRED

Cases of Seized Liquor Mysteriously Disappears.

Washington, April 1.—(UP.)—Representative LaGuardia, Socialist, New York, today asked Attorney General Sargent how much liquor prohibition agents turned over to justice officials following a raid on the Squibb distillery at Lawrenceburg, Ky.

LaGuardia said he wanted to find out "just who is responsible for the disappearance of 350 or more cases of the liquor after it had been seized."

A similar request to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, LaGuardia said, brought in a reply today, "the silliest letter and the most awkward dodge I have ever seen, containing absolutely no information."

FIDDLERS' CONTEST

Huge Success—"Deafy" Rogers Wins Bow and Fiddle Crown.

Last night the Athletic Club Gym was jammed with a throng of nearly five hundred folks, on the occasion of the second Old Fiddlers' Contest. There were nine contestants, each of whom played two selections, and then the prize was awarded by the applause of the audience to Will "Deafy" Rogers, of Columbus. Mr. Rogers is a Circleville product, and every one who attended dances a score of years back, remembers that he can certainly play. And as he himself remarked afterwards, he hasn't forgotten a thing.

Second prize went to Cris Goeller, Mr. Rogers' partner of the past and the present. Mr. Goeller is a real fiddler too, and there is little to choose between him and Mr. Rogers. Third prize went to C. B. Mitchell, of New Holland, who is 79 years old and "rarin' to go." The prizes, which were offered by the management, were $15, $10 and $5 respectively, and there was little doubt of who they went to, when the applause was called for.

The other contestants, every one of whom gave a program that was sure to be enjoyed, were G. A. Peters, of Washington township, who played a schottische; Frank Rogers, who departed from precedent and offered a beautiful waltz and "Marching Through Georgia;" Harry "Tug" Wilson, the pride of the South End, and Wm. Vandegriff, the winner of the last contest.

Miss Maud Rogers furnished the accompaniments, and in no small measure added to the success of the evening. Miss Rogers, who is the daughter of the winning fiddler, is a mighty fine piano player who plays by ear and instinct, inasmuch as she accompanies any selection without a note of music. Banjo accompaniment by Waldo Beaver and Jim Teal, and was extremely well "Alaskan."

A mixed dance followed the contest, in which the fox trot and the Charleston alternated with the Schottische and the quadrill. Music was by Beavers' orchestra, consisting of Mr. Beavers, banjo; Miss Rogers, piano; Mr. Will Rogers and Mr. Goeller, violins; Mr. Clayton Hampp, saxophone and Mr. John Amnahdon, caller. This orchestra has been playing for old-fashioned dances in Central Ohio for years, and they certainly can put across a program that they can be proud of. They will appear in the near future at Cleveland Ave. and Mock Road, Columbus, under a three-a-week contract.

Congratulations also go to Miss Jennie Smith, of Ashville, who received a beautiful mesh bag as the best lady quadrille dancer. In a crowd such as was on the floor last night, such a recognition means something. Miss Smith is just a youngster, too, which shows that the ancient art is far from dying out. Judges in this event were, Harry Moore, H. H. Groce, Fred Younkum, A. W. Baker and E. L. Smith.

Another fiddlers' contest and dance will be given by the Club on April 22.

Pass Famed in History

Khyber pass is the principal northern passage from India into Afghanistan. It is ten miles west of Peshawur, extending about thirty-three miles towards Jellalabad, lying between lofty cliffs varying from 600 to 1,000 feet in height. It was forced by British troops led by Colonel Wade on July 26, 1839, and again in 1842 by Gen. Sir George Pollock.

Skunks Feed on Pests

Skunks feed mainly upon insects which are harmful to agriculture. They eat army worms, tobacco worms, white grubs, hop grubs, grasshoppers, cutworms, cicadas, crickets, sphinx moths and many kinds of rodents.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Your sense of need for help is very urgent. You want it here and now, not in some far-distant time and place.

It is yours for the asking, if your soul is big enough to appreciate and to receive what God bestows. There are greater blessings in store for you on beyond, of which you could not conceive at present, but the Father meets today's necessities with strength enough for today. Do not attempt to get along without what he yearns to bestow.—Frederick G. Budlong.

DETROIT ARCTIC

Expedition's Preliminary Flights Under Way.

Fairbanks, Alaska, April 1.—(UP.)—The first of the Detroit arctic expedition's preliminary flights between here and Point Barrow is under way with the freighting of supplies to that northernmost settlement of the United States.

Two hours after the "Alaskan," single motored plane and smaller of the expedition's two craft left here yesterday, word was received that a 100 mile an hour speed was being maintained and that the flight was progressing smoothly. Since then attempts at communication have failed. The "Alaskan" was expected to make the return trip today.

The expedition's leader, Captain George Wilkins and Pilot Ben Eileson are aboard the

SPRING TIME HAS ARRIVED IN FROG CITY

Toledo, Ohio, April 3 (UP)—Spring has struck the streets of west Toledo.

A social service federation worker, out on a case, got stuck in the mud. Her dainty slippers became imbedded in the thick clay and she was unable to move.

Carpenters working on a house nearby came to her rescue.

Wading thru the mud they lifted the young woman clear of her slippers and then carried her to the sidewalk.

Then they went to the rescue of the stranded slippers and also brought these back to safety, permitting the social federation worker, to continue her errand of succor.

Heavy Toll on Forests

The railroads use about 130,000,000 new wood ties every year. There are 3,000 ties under every mile of track. Each tie ordinarily lasts an average of eight years. It is necessary to cut 5,000,000 trees every year to maintain telephone and telegraph wires.

Heavy Forest Fire Loss

The greatest enemy of the forest is fire. In an average year 33,500 forest fires occur in the United States. They burn about 7,000,000 acres and do a damage in property alone of $16,500,000.

Odd Material for Check

A peculiar check that was cashed by a Kansas bank in 1908 has been unearthed during the cleaning out of a vault. While C. E. Sangster of Lyons, Kan., was busy overseeing the building of his home he picked up a block of soft pine an inch thick, seven inches long and three inches wide and proceeded to write a check on the Lyons National bank. The check was afterward cashed by Sam Temple, who, indorsing it, took it to the bank, where it was deposited and stamped "Paid."

Silk Underwear Popular

Five years ago few men wore silk underwear. Now a questionnaire sent out by the Associated Knit Underwear manufacturers reveals that 2,500,000 men in the United States wear such flimsy garments. The questionnaire making these revelations was sent to wives, sisters and mothers. Perhaps that explains it.—Capper's Weekly.

AMUSEMENTS

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," Peter B. Kyne's enchanting story of the South Sea Islands, will be shown at the Met theater for three days beginning Monday, according to an announcement made by the management yesterday.

This picture, a Cosmopolitan production, directed by the celebrated French director, Maurice Tourneur, was pictured in Tahiti and Moorea, two of the famous island of the South Sea group. The cast includes such prominent players as Anita Stewart, Bert Lytell, Huntly Gordon, Justine Johnstone, George Siegmund, Lionel Bolmore, William Norris, Emily Fitzroy, Princess Marie de Bourbon and Florence Turner.

Perhaps never in the history of moving pictures has there been a story filmed against such gorgeously beautiful backgrounds as those which appear in "Never the Twain Shall Meet." Filled with all the magic and romance associated with life in the South Sea, this photoplay sounds an entirely new note in the literature and drama of motion pictures.

In the role of Tamea, the half-caste island princess, Anita Stewart appears in a characterization thoroughly suited to her enchanting personality—a portrayal which calls for many phases of dramatic intensity, varied with comedy situations. Bert Lytell plays opposite Miss Stewart in the role of Dan Pritchard.

The production is lavish in the extreme, and as the picture develops on the screen there is a breadth and freedom, a tropical magic and a pictorial panorama of loveliness never before visualized with a moving picture camera. In addition to a wealth of scenic beauty there is an equal beauty in the exotic interior setting, designed by the masterful hand of Joseph Urban.

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," is distributed by Metro-Goldwyn.

POINTERS FOR MEN OF INVENTIVE TURN

Talking movies and a hat band that doesn't get streaked by the rain are two of the world's needs not yet supplied, according to the British Institute of Patentees. The institute has just issued its booklet on "What's Wanted" as a guide to inventors who may be slightly uncertain as to what to invent.

Many of the items listed have been suggested by the war office, the air ministry, post office and other British government departments. Industrial concerns have also offered suggestions of inventions which would be valuable to manufacturers and artisans.

The list includes a noiseless airplane, better motor car headlights, processes for instantaneous color photography, elimination of rust and transmission of speech by light; also a method of conveying speech directly and readably to paper.

Famous Type Founder

Claude Garamond was the first type founder and the most distinguished type designer and cutter of his day. He was the creator of the Garamond design as well as other Roman and Greek fonts.

Regular Customer

Dagerburg Cohen, the Duluth financier, said at a banquet of bankers in Duluth:

"Some people treat banks like—well, let me tell you a story.

"Hello, George. Was it you I saw going into the Grangers' bank this morning?" said one man to another.

"Yes, it was me, all right," said George.

"Did you make a deposit?"

"No, sir."

"Drew something out, hey?"

"Nope."

"What did you do, then?"

"I filled the family fountain pens."

Historic Rocking Chair

The old rocking chair in which Rev. Samuel Francis Smith sat when he wrote the hymn "America" has been acquired by the Phillips Andover academy. Smith was a student at the Andover Theological seminary, then a part of the academy, when, in 1832, he composed the patriotic song. He is said to have written the words in half an hour. The chair, long in possession of his descendants, once was carried to California, but has returned to stay.

STRANGE LEGENDS THAT HAVE GROWN ABOUT EASTER

Many curious and beautiful legends are associated with Easter and Holy Week, some of them dating from the days when the peoples of Northern Europe worshipped Eostre, or Ostera, the Spring goddess, whose name is still preserved in the word "Easter."

In a few remote places the legend lingers that the sun dances in the skies when it rises on Easter morning. Some of the Irish peasantry even now rise before dawn and go out to a hilltop to watch the "sun dance," for it is said that those who do so will get their wishes.

At one time the belief prevailed throughout the British Isles. Herrick refers to "the dancing Easter Day," but even in his time people were beginning to doubt if the phenomenon really occurred, for Sir Thomas Browne in his Vulgar Errors, published in 1646, says: "We shall not, I hope, disparage the Resurrection of our Redeemer if we say that the sun doth not dance on Easter Day."

Throughout Europe, colored eggs are exchanged on this festival, in token of the Resurrection, for even in pre-Christian times, an egg was regarded as a type of new life, and the ancient Egyptians and Persians exchanged dyed or painted eggs at their Spring festivals, when all the world seems to speak of Resurrection after the cold and darkness of the Winter.

Eggs dyed red were regarded as particularly symbolical of the death and resurrection of our Lord. Originally the Easter eggs given to children were real ones, tinted red, purple, green or yellow, or covered with gold leaf. Egg-rolling is an old Easter Monday amusement in the north of Europe, and the custom has travelled to America.

FIGHTING SMALLPOX IN CENTRAL AFRICA

Smallpox is a terrible plague when it breaks out, as it does, among the native in Central Africa. There is one small woman over there, Miss Tessie Williams (who recently visited the United Christian Missionary society's headquarters here, being employed by this board), who is doing her best to make Africa smallpox-proof. She vaccinated 646 natives in one day, considering it a very good missionary stunt. Her method of describing it was like the assembling of fabulous numbers of autos as witnessed in a well known factory. They stood in a line an eighth of a mile long. One native administered the soapuds, scrubbing the arm clean; another scraped the skin, ready for the inoculation; a third kept the young missionary supplied with apparatus. Nothing but sleeveless costumes are worn in that part of Africa, and, despite the hurry of it, there were no infections or other ill effects.—Detroit Free Press.

Give Right of Way
 Workers on public highways should always be given the right of way. The heavy machines used for roadwork are not easily turned from one side of the road to the other and motorists are expected to make way for them.

Hallways That Charm

THE hallway of the home is like a first meeting. From it the stranger gets an instant impression as to the character of the rest of the house. So, this little room of introduction should receive thought and care in the matter of its decoration and arrangement.

Let the floor furnish the key in planning a decorative scheme. Wide boards look best when painted whereas a parquet or hardwood floor should be varnished. Black is effective for floor-painting. With this combine walls painted a pale grey and woodwork and stairs a slightly deeper tone. Top the grey spindles of the airway with a black-painted hand-rail, and on the stairs lay a crimson carpet, repeating this color in the window-drapes of silk or rep and in the rug. Paint the console table, or small desk, and a couple of straight chairs black. A deep-blue bowl of crimson flowers would add an effective touch.

A light-colored parquet or hardwood floor is a good setting for mahogany furniture. In such a setting it is appropriate to use a mahogany - finished hand - rail on a cream - colored staircase, also painting the walls cream and giving the woodwork a mahogany finish. A green stair-carpet, rug and curtains would fit charmingly into the picture.

MOTHER

Of Seven Children Is Killed By Fanatic.

Painesville, O., April 2.—(UP.)—A charge of first degree murder was lodged today against George Wargo, 59, who shot and killed Mrs. Annie Sabo, 34, at whose home he boarded, because "she refused to cook cabbage for my supper."

The shooting occurred in the presence of Mrs. Sabo's seven panic stricken children, the youngest of whom, Julia, was wounded by a stray bullet. The death of Mrs. Sabo, who was a widow, left the children orphans.

Wargo had boarded at the Sabo home for several months according to neighbors who summoned police when they heard shots. The officers arrived just in time to prevent a mob seizing the enraged man.

Wargo today apparently was unperturbed over the shooting and his arrest.

"I don't care if she is dead," he told his jailers defiantly. "Whatever happens means nothing to me."

County officials were concerned today over the disposition of the children who are now wards of the county.

DR. HOWARD JONES

Addressed Rotarians At Weekly Luncheon.

Members of the local Rotary Club, at their weekly luncheon at the Boggs Hotel yesterday were addressed by Dr. Howard Jones, whose subject was "Education."

One of the hobbies of Dr. Jones is a study of the early history of our state and the life of the Indians who inhabited it and also of the early settlers. To study by Dr. Jones means to know and he has been making talks to different organizations throughout the State for the past two years on subjects relating to this knowledge.

His talk of yesterday was very entertaining and instructive and while imparting valuable information, also suggested a memorial in the form of a statue be placed in the yard of the High School or in another prominent place, to one of the greatest and among the first educators this country ever knew, Mr. Caleb Atwater, who was also a resident of this city.

U. S. KITE EXPERTS ENVY OF SMALL BOY

Get Data From Sky for Nation's Aviators.

Washington, Neb.—The small boy likely would view as the finest kind of play the important meteorological work carried on by the staff of the kite station at the Drexel observation bureau here.

For from the kite house in the center of an unobstructed 40-acre field kites as big as a woodshed are flown on piano wire, sometimes six or seven on a single strand, the highest kite out of sight.

C. S. Ling, veteran government meteorologist in charge, has six assistants who devote all their time to kiting. Scarcely a dozen days a year fall to see the kites aloft, where they remain five or six hours.

Gets Data From Clouds. The instrument carried up is called a meteorograph. Weighing but two pounds, this aluminum cylinder records wind velocity, direction, altitude, humidity, temperature and the amount of static electricity encountered. The information transcribed from its recordings is for use in future forecasting, for possible military flying information in future years and for immediate information to army and navy mail aviators. To the latter daily information has been furnished for several months, but no regular weather forecasts are issued.

From the circular six-ton kite-house, which revolves like an astronomical observatory and has sliding round doors, the kites are put up. A large drum, bearing eight miles of piano wire, is operated by an electric motor. The whole is insulated against static electricity.

Unlike the small boy's kite, with which he must run a few yards to get it up, the weather kites are taken down the field a short distance and given a boost. The drum pulls the kite into the teeth of the wind at a speed of 11 miles an hour and the box kite scoots upward.

However, aloft a few hundred feet, the kite begins to sag as its load of piano wire increases. Additional kites are then strung on at thousand-foot intervals, each with its own lead wire of a hundred yards or so. As many as half a dozen kites soon dot the sky, each perhaps in a different wind level and each tugging an opposite direction from the main line. But the load is distributed and the top kite carries on its work of supporting the meteorograph.

Bear Weather Tales.

The kites are rectangular in shape. Their greatest dimension is eight feet. The corner struts are half-inch straight-grained spruce. The muslin covering is drawn to drum-head tautness. The only tails they bear are the "weather tales" they bring down.

Frequently a kite a mile aloft breaks away. Directed by a label on the side the finder usually returns the kite at once. Only 5 per cent of lost kites fail to reappear. However, when the wire breaks at the winch a swishing steel tail trails along with the fleeing kites, playing havoc with rural phone lines and fences.

Seldom is the wire hit by lightning, but the static, which causes grief to radio fans, frequently reaches 40,000 to 50,000 volts on the wire. It is safely led off through a grounded escape wire.

Thirty-inch hydrogen-filled rubber balloons are released several times daily at Drexel. Watched through theodolites, their course is plotted, and from this are deduced details of the upper air strata.

Drexel also provides kites for other stations. Dahl Baxter, who has made weather kites most of his life, operates the kite shop. Fifty-two completed kites fill the loft of a large shop.

Suddenly Lost Desire for That Porterhouse

Abe Schwartz looked up quickly as a shabbily dressed colored man entered his grocery and meat market in Irvington and demanded "the best and thickest porterhouse steak what you got."

The customer held his fingers apart, indicating about two inches. Then he hesitated an instant.

"About how much would it cost for one that thick?" he queried.

"Well, it would run somewhere close to 75 cents."

The colored man gave a long, shrill whistle, then exclaimed:

"W-w-what—seventy-five? Oh, man, Jes' give me a nickel's worth of liver.—Indianapolis News.

Getting Things Mixed

Grandmother had been telling Rosemary stories that ended with, "And they all lived happily ever afterward." On returning from Sunday school Rosemary was telling her mother the lesson story. The lesson was the story of the "Lost Sheep." She told how the Good Shepherd had counted his sheep, had found that one was missing and had gone in search of it. Calling and searching, resting and searching again, he had at last found the lost sheep and carried it home in his arms.

And, added the little maiden in a very cheerful voice, "they all lived happily ever afterward."

Clear Enough

"Speaking of funny signs," said a traveling man, "I saw one in a small town a short time ago that made me laugh. It seems that the post office was moved some distance in the village. In the window of the old location there was a big sign which read: 'We've moved from where we were to where we are.' It wasn't intended to be funny. It was a plain statement of fact that the painter thought was sufficiently explicit. In that place, and to one who was familiar with the situation it was enough. Everyone knew just where the office was."

It's a long time since we have seen a man with a tooth brush in his vest pocket.

“Lively Heat” for Better Cooking

For many years engineers have sought a way to produce from common kerosene the same vigorous "Lively Heat" that is produced by a bed of red-hot coals or a gas or electric burner.

Red Star Engineers finally found the way. The Red Star patented "Lively Heat" Burner lifted the Red Star Oil Stove to a level with the coal, gas and electric range. It established new standards in oil stove cooking.

The Red Star cooks, bakes, broils and fries—to perfection. Starts cooking the instant burner is lighted. Means a cool kitchen in summer.

There is a size and type of Red Star for every home. Size for size they cost no more than any good oil stove.

RICHES CAN BE ACQUIRED VERY QUICKLY

Rev. Charles A. Glass Delivered Impressive Sermon
on Friday Night.

"I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed and that the shame
of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see." Revelation 3:18.

This counsel that we are considering tonight my friends, is of great importance to you and to me. Let me show you that it is of great importance to give heed to this counsel, first of all because of who it is, who speaks to you. Oh, think who it is who offers to counsel you and me tonight!
Think of what it means to have God Himself offering to counsel us! He cannot be prejudiced, and even tho all others may be turned against you you can come to him. He is able to do for us what no other can, and that wonderful God says to you tonight, "I counsel you."

Not only is it important to heed the counsel because of him who gave it,
but because of the counsel he gives.
"I counsel thee to buy of me gold
tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich." Now listen, the meaning here is grace, power, that will enable you to live the kind of life God would have you live. What gold is to the rich, and greater than gold to the rich, is
the grace of God to the human life,
and He wants us to have enough to be rich. When one has the real thing He has something to make him go thru with his head up. Brother, God wants that we should have something that will keep us sweet, keep us going thru something that will keep our hearts
like a flint no matter what the circumstances may be.

COOLIDGE DECLINES THE LEAGUE'S BID

STRINGS TO INVITATION NOT TO PRESIDENT'S LIKING

Administration Refuses To Send Delegate To Conference To Explain Senate's Views.—Geneva Wonders—Consideration of American Reservations Only Routine, Reply To Washington.

President Coolidge feels that the League of Nations' invitation to the United States to participate in the world court conference in Geneva in September should not be accepted.

He takes the position that the senate reservations speak for themselves and, therefore, it is not necessary to send a delegate to Geneva to explain them.

In view of his attitude, made clear Friday at the White House, it appears certain that the League invitation, received by Secretary Kellogg, will be declined with thanks.

As the situation shaped up altho no reply has been forwarded to Geneva, only unexpected developments would cause the president to change his mind.

He clearly approves of the direct negotiations the state department has initiated with the 48 governments signatory to the world court protocol, and sees no reason why it cannot be determined in this way whether the United States is to enter the court under the senate stipulations.

League of Nations circles expressed astonishment on receipt of dispatches from Washington saying that the action of the League in sending a circular letter to the members of the world court, inviting them to a conference to consider the American reservations, had caused surprise in official circles of the American capital.

Officials of the League said that however Washington may have felt about the council's original decision to convoke a conference for the purpose of discussing the reservations put forward by the United States in connection with her becoming a member of the court and the invitation to the United States to participate in the discussions, there can be no justification for surprise over the actual dispatch of the invitations.

These officials explained that the sending out of the circular letter to the court signatories was nothing but routine procedure called for by the decision of the council.

It was added that the sending out of a circular letter is the practice always adopted when the League arranges for international conferences, it was sent only to the members of the court and not the members of the League. Not all the members of the League are members of the court, and the council, it was emphasized, wishes to keep the American reservation question as one entirely the concern of the members of the court.

As was the case in the invitation dispatched by the League to the United States, the League's letter to United States, and to the court signatories, encloses the text of the minutes of the council meeting which adopted the proposal to call the conference.

RARE OLD TESTAMENT.

Elmira, Ohio, April 3, (UP).—John Stettler, of this city, is exhibiting an old testament that he believes is valuable. It was brought here from Germany many years ago; the title page reads as follows:

"To Titus, the first ordained bishop of the church of Crete, written by Nicholas in Macedonia. The prophets of the old testament in German by Martin Luther. Printed in the year of Christ, A. D. 1573."

The testament is in a good state of preservation and is printed in German.

CONSCIENCE MONEY

Toledo, O., April 3, (UP).—Conscience was responsible for the return of money lost 20 years ago to the News-Bee.

The loser advertised the loss at the time but the unidentified finder was able to still his voice of conscience until today. A checkup of ads is being made to locate the owner or his heirs. Ordinary interest alone during the last 20 years would more than double the loss, it was said.

Circleville Hardware Store.

M. E. Carman, of Marysville, has placed on sale the entire stock of the Circleville Hardware company and beginning today will dispose of the stock at auction.

This is the 34th stock of merchandise that Mr. Carman has had to dispose of and he cleans them out entirely and quickly.

DOG COMPENSATION.

Toledo, O., April 3, (UP).—Fred Hill, a farmer, will have to pay his neighbor, Ray Dicham, $75 to compensate him for a dog which Hill is said to have shot October 1, 1924. A jury in common pleas court awarded this amount to Dicham.

PAINT PROBE IN PROGRESS BY AUDITOR

Will Go to Findlay to Investigate Actions of the State Highway Department.

Columbus, O., April 2, (UP).—State Auditor Tracy today resumed his investigation of alleged irregularities in the state agricultural department, extending his probe to Cleveland where he is seeking information concerning paint contracts awarded to the Empire Paint & Varnish company.

Testimony previously given at the inquiry, tended to show the Cleveland company was awarded a contract for 600 gallons of paint for state fair buildings, altho its bid was considerably higher than those of competing companies.

The name of Former Judge David L. Rockwell, Ravenna, who is said to be interested in the Empire firm, was brought into the records as "having been a party to negotiations that resulted in the award."

Auditor Tracy said he expected to interview officials of the company regarding letters that have been submitted as evidence and which have been interpreted as revealing the Cleveland company was favored over its competitors.

Taking of testimony in the investigation will be resumed Monday, Tracy said, and the probe may be completed Tuesday. Tracy then expects to go to Findlay and other cities in connection with his investigation of the state highway department.

WM. GALBREATH

Died at Home of Brother in Mt. Sterling—Funeral Services Saturday.

William Galbreath died at the home of his brother, Herman Galbreath, in Mt. Sterling Friday afternoon aged 65 years.

The deceased was born in Muhlenberg township, this county. He was a son of Robert and Sarah Hill Galbreath.

Mr. Galbreath never married. Of his immediate family he is survived by three brothers; Herman Galbreath, of Mt. Sterling; Frank Galbreath, of Columbus; and Robert Galbreath, of Tulsa, Oklahoma. Will G. Hamilton and Frank Hamilton are nephews and Mrs. N. G. Hamilton is a first cousin of the deceased.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the home of his brother, in Mt. Sterling at 2 o'clock. Burial in the Muhlenberg cemetery at Darbyville.

Columbus—An appeal seeking a review of the appellate court's reversal of the conviction of Sol Peskind and Ben Karp, Cleveland, on a charge of converting to their own use $242,000 worth of securities belonging to the Municipal Savings and Loan company of Cleveland, was filed in the state supreme court Friday by Attorney General Crabbe.

Toledo—One woman was overcome by smoke, a fireman was injured and thirty families were driven to the streets today when fire swept the basement of the Berkshire apartments here.

Altho the blaze was confined to the basement, dense clouds of smoke filtered into the apartments above, causing the occupants to flee in panic.

Mrs. Bessie M. Wiley was trapped in her apartment and was overcome. Firemen carried her to the street. Fireman William Rooney was injured when several bricks fell on him.

Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Bellaire—Six of the largest soft coal mines in southeastern Ohio located in Belmont and Jefferson counties, the principal coal producing regions of the state—suspended operations Friday leaving 1800 miners without employment.

In announcing the suspensions, the mine owners said they were unable to operate profitably under terms of the Jacksonville wage scale negotiated in 1924 and in competition with the non-union mines of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Columbus, O., — Mildred Katherine Pfeifer, Columbus' seven week-old "incubator" baby, died in a hospital here Friday. Mildred Katherine, at birth, weighed only one pound and three ounces. She was placed in a hospital baby "incubator" where she spent the remainder of her life.

While engaged in the incubator, the infant gained two pounds and six ounces. Until a few days ago it was believed she would live.

ORDER ASSETS TURNED OVER TO RECEIVERS

Cleveland Discount Company Affairs are Being Administered by Court.

Cleveland, O., April 2, (UP).—Common Pleas Judge A. J. Pearson today ordered W. L. David and Gardner Abbot, receivers for the defunct $30,000,000 Cleveland Discount company, to turn over to the Cleveland Securities corporation, all assets of the discount concern.

The securities corporation was recently formed by the receivers to liquidate unsecured claims against the Discount company, which formerly was headed by Josiah Kirby, now under sentence to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Under the plan worked out by the receivers, all holders of unsecured claims were given common stock in the securities corporation. Preferred stockholders also exchanged their stock for securities company stock.

The final report of the receivers will be made within a few weeks, it was announced unless the court orders suits brought against the former directors for the recovery of money lost by investors.

WILMINGTON MAN SUICIDES ON THE TRAIN

Columbus—Ben Roach, 50, Wilmington store keeper, shot and killed himself Wednesday night on a B. & O. passenger train plying between Wilmington and Cincinnati, it became known Friday.

Details of the suicide were brought to Columbus by a B. & O. brakeman who said Roach wrote a note to "Dusty" Miller, Wilmington newspaperman who was on the train, then walked to the wash-room of his coach and shot himself.

The tenor of the farewell missive was that Roach had been a failure in life.

"I cannot bear it any longer," he wrote. "I am unable to provide for my wife and child, the things that I would like to give them."

They Never Get Out.

The Washington police have been instructed to be courteous, even in knocking a man down. Have any congressman been getting into trouble?—Philadelphia Record.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Robert, the three year old son of Grace Fowler Bookwalter, who makes her home at the Hotel Tremont was knocked down by an auto Friday afternoon on Western avenue, and was severely injured. The boy ran directly in front of the automobile driven by Miss Rader, daughter of William Rader.

The child was removed to Dr. H. D. Jackson's office where he was given medical attention and his wounds were dressed. Dr. Jackson is of the opinion that the boy is injured internally.

OLD "SOUL DOUGH"

Old "Sour Dough" George Carson won his final contest against one of the largest smelting companies in the West for $20,000,000 in royalties on patent rights to an improved ore reduction process. Carson has no idea what he is going to do with the money which he won through the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals. "Court decisions are one thing and cash is another," said old "Sour Dough."

MISS DAVIS ILL.

Miss Margaret Davis, beauty culture operator at the Crist department store, who has been ill at the home of Mrs. J. J. Renick on Watt street for the past two weeks, was removed to Columbus Friday evening and taken to her home in Springfield for recuperation and rest. She will probably be able to resume her duties again in a short time.

THE SICK.

Simple Living-Rooms Favored

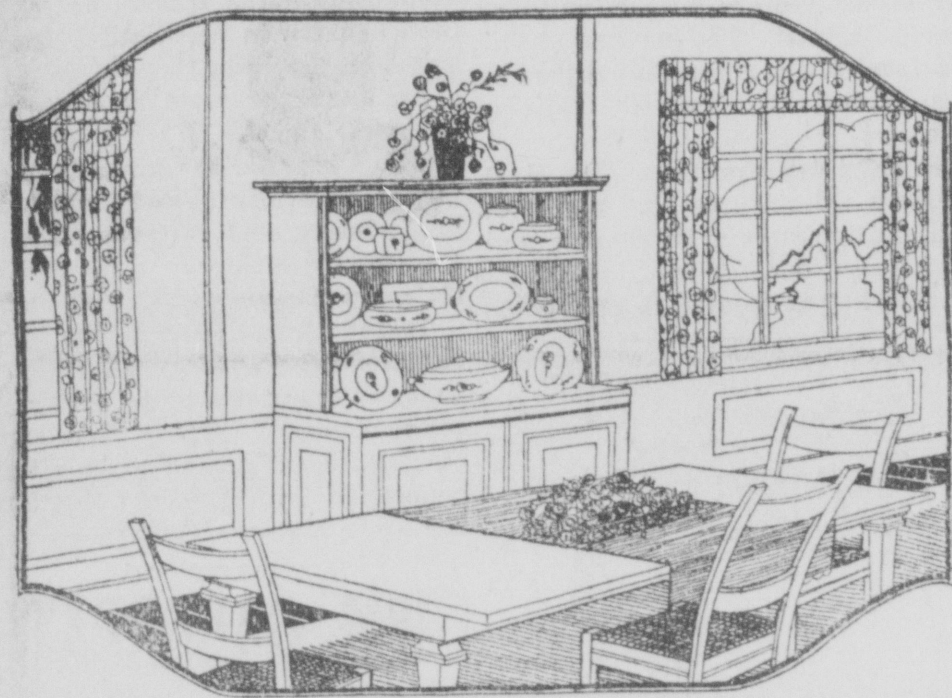

AMERICAN homes are rapidly regaining that simplicity which characterized the best homes of Colonial days. The ornate and the showily useless, of a later period, passed with the Victorian era. In this jazzy, nerve-racking age, we are beginning to crave quiet, restful effects in our home environments; always excepting the kitchen, dining-room or sun-room, where the gaiety of bright colors is needed.

Plain, painted walls, light in tone have come into general favor, because they provide the most effective background, reflect the most light and are easily cleaned. A beamed ceiling of dark-finished wood adds a touch of dignity. The mantel overcrowded with knick-knacks is a thing of the past. A stately ship-model is now the preferred center-piece, flanked by wrought-iron or brass candlesticks, or by bowls containing vines or flowers.

In library or living-room, a few handsome pieces of mahogany may be relieved by a single painted chair or small table, to add a warmer touch. Pictures are few and choice, and a silk batik or India print is sometimes the only decoration on an entire wall. Such an interior best expresses the true meaning of the word, "home."

Cheerful Dining-Rooms

THE dining-room should be one of the cheeriest rooms in the house. The stateliness of oak-paneled walls hung with family portraits is suitable only to the palatial mansion. In the average modern home, planned for coziness, the place where we gather to eat our meals is bright with gay colors, sunshine and flowers, an environment conducive to that cheerful frame of mind which aids digestion.

Walls, woodwork and furniture may be painted to carry out a certain color-scheme. For instance, walls of a light, golden tan form a pleasing background for furniture painted peacock-blue with black striping. The rug on the black floor combines the peacock-blue and gold tints. The china-cupboard is painted black on the outside, and the same vivid blue on the inside. The handy tea-wagon is painted blue and black, like the furniture. The wood-work of the room is black. The accessories, such as window-drapes, wall-piece, candlesticks and vase or bowl of flowers, are in gold and blue, with an additional effective touch of scarlet. There is a sense of the vibrant beauty of the Orient in a room of such coloring.

MEN'S DRESS
By
W. A. Churchill, Secretary
BORN TAILORS GUILD

Trousers Versus Breeches

WHY should trousers be considered the mark of the inferior, and knee breeches and their equivalent the suitable garments of the freeman, the aristocrat and the man of fashion? This was true for centuries until trousers were generally adopted during the first quarter of the past century. Even today knee breeches must be worn at the Court of St. James in England and, to come nearer home, knickers have been accepted for sports wear.

"Breeched barbarians" is what the Romans contemptuously called the early Gauls and Saxons because of their coarse hemp trousers. The oldest pair in existence have been found in the peat field of Denmark. They are over two thousand years old and are made of some sort of coarse, felted wool. Early trousers were literally a pair, each leg being separate, like the picturesque chaps of the American cowboy. They were held up by a drawstring or belt run through loops at the top.

Way back in the Middle Ages the trouser disappeared from polite society and in its place came the high hose or tights with the long and full-skirted coat. Even menials wore doublets and hose and peasants wore the full smock of coarse linen.

Beau Brummel is credited with introducing the trouser, or as it was called, the pantaloons, as the proper garment of the gentleman. Other accounts have it that the women of the French revolution first assumed them in place of skirts to show their equality with men. However, the innovation was not adopted without a struggle. The duke of Wellington was refused admittance to a formal ball because he was wearing trousers, while President Monroe in 1817 was the last man in public office in this country to wear knee breeches.

At that time a man showed his politics by his trousers or breeches, the former being the badge of the Republicans and the latter of the Royalists. But once the trouser triumphed, what a series of variations it went through! The first pantaloons were tight fitting and buttoned down the side around the calf. Then they were opened over the instep and equipped with buttons and loops. This was discarded for straps under the shoe in the manner of spats today. Some were funnel-shaped, others pleated at the waist and still others even boasted tucks around the bottom. At last the style stabilized and only after a century of quiet unassuming cut has the trouser dared to spread out a bit and to take on a note of color.

OVER THREE HUNDRED

Cases of Seized Liquor Mysteriously Disappears.

Washington, April 1.—(UP.)—Representative LaGuardia, Socialist, New York, today asked Attorney General Sargent how much liquor prohibition agents turned over to justice officials following a raid on the Squibb distillery at Lawrenceburg, Ky.

LaGuardia said he wanted to find out "just who is responsible for the disappearance of 350 or more cases of the liquor after it had been seized."

A similar request to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, LaGuardia said, brought in a reply today, "the silliest letter and the most awkward dodge I have ever seen, containing absolutely no information."

Mr. Rogers is a Circleville product, and every one who attended dances a score of years back, remembers that he can certainly play. And as he himself remarked afterwards, he hasn't forgotten a thing.

Second prize went to Cris Goeller, Mr. Rogers' partner of the past and the present. Mr. Goeller is a real fiddler too, and there is little to choose between him and Mr. Rogers. Third prize went to C. B. Mitchell, of New Holland, who is 79 years old and "rarin' to go." The prizes, which were offered by the management, were $15, $10 and $5 respectively, and there was little doubt of who they went to, when the applause was called for.

The other contestants, every one of whom gave a program that was sure to be enjoyed, were G. A. Peters, of Washington township, who played a schottische; Frank Rogers, who departed from precedent and offered a beautiful waltz and "Marching Through Georgia;" Harry "Tug" Wilson, the pride of the South End, and Wm. Vandegriff, the winner of the last contest.

Miss Maud Rogers furnished the accompaniments, and in no small measure added to the success of the evening. Miss Rogers, who is the daughter of the winning fiddler, is a mighty fine piano player who plays by ear and instinct, inasmuch as she accompanies any selection without a note of music. Banjo accompaniment by Waldo Beaver and Jim Teal, and was extremely well "Alaskan."

A mixed dance followed the contest, in which the fox trot and the Charleston alternated with the Schottische and the quadrill. Music was by Beavers' orchestra, consisting of Mr. Beavers, banjo; Miss Rogers, piano; Mr. Will Rogers and Mr. Goeller, violins; Mr. Clayton Hampp, saxophone and Mr. John Amnabdon, caller. This orchestra has been playing for old-fashioned dances in Central Ohio for years, and they certainly can put across a program that they can be proud of. They will appear in the near future at Cleveland Ave. and Mock Road, Columbus, under a three-week contract.

Congratulations also go to Miss Jennie Smith, of Ashville, who received a beautiful mesh bag as the best lady quadrille dancer. In a crowd such as was on the floor last night, such a recognition means something. Miss Smith is just a youngster, too, which shows that the ancient art is far from dying out. Judges in this event were, Harry Moore, H. H. Groce, Fred Younkum, A. W. Baker and E. L. Smith.

Another fiddlers' contest and dance will be given by the Club on April 22.

Pass Famed in History
Khyber pass is the principal northern passage from India into Afghanistan. It is ten miles west of Peshawur, extending about thirty-three miles towards Jellalabad, lying between lofty cliffs varying from 600 to 1,000 feet in height. It was forced by British troops led by Colonel Wade on July 26, 1839, and again in 1842 by Gen. Sir George Pollock.

Skunks Feed on Pests
Skunks feed mainly upon insects which are harmful to agriculture. They eat army worms, tobacco worms, white grubs, hop grubs, grasshoppers, cutworms, cicadas, crickets, sphinx moths and many kinds of rodents.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Your sense of need for help is very urgent. You want it here and now, not in some far-distant time and place.

It is yours for the asking, if your soul is big enough to appreciate and to receive what God bestows. There are greater blessings in store for you on beyond, of which you could not conceive at present, but the Father meets today's necessities with strength enough for today. Do not attempt to get along without what he yearns to bestow.—Frederick G. Budlong.

DETROIT ARCTIC

Expedition's Preliminary Flights Under Way.

Fairbanks, Alaska, April 1.—(UP.)—The first of the Detroit arctic expedition's preliminary flights between here and Point Barrow is under way with the freighting of supplies to that northernmost settlement of the United States.

Two hours after the "Alaskan," single motored plane and smaller of the expedition's two craft left here yesterday, word was received that a 100 mile an hour speed was being maintained and that the flight was progressing smoothly. Since then attempts at communication have failed. The "Alaskan" was expected to make the return trip today.

The expedition's leader, Captain George Wilkins and Pilot Ben Eileson are aboard the

SPRING TIME HAS ARRIVED IN FROG CITY

Toledo, Ohio, April 3 (UP)—Spring has struck the streets of west Toledo. A social service federation worker, out on a case, got stuck in the mud. Her dainty slippers became imbedded in the thick clay and she was unable to move.
 Carpenters working on a house nearby came to her rescue.
 Wading thru the mud they lifted the young woman clear of her slippers and then carried her to the sidewalk.
 Then they went to the rescue of the stranded slippers and also brought these back to safety, permitting the social federation worker, to continue her errand of succor.

Heavy Toll on Forests
 The railroads use about 130,000,000 new wood ties every year. There are 3,000 ties under every mile of track. Each tie ordinarily lasts an average of eight years. It is necessary to cut 5,000,000 trees every year to maintain telephone and telegraph wires.

Heavy Forest Fire Loss
 The greatest enemy of the forest is fire. In an average year 33,500 forest fires occur in the United States. They burn about 7,000,000 acres and do a damage in property alone of $16,300,000.

Odd Material for Check
 A peculiar check that was cashed by a Kansas bank in 1908 has been unearthed during the cleaning out of a vault. While C. F. Sangster of Lyons, Kan., was busy overseeing the building of his home he picked up a block of soft pine an inch thick, seven inches long and three inches wide and proceeded to write a check on the Lyons National bank. The check was afterward cashed by Sam Temple, who, indorsing it, took it to the bank, where it was deposited and stamped "Paid."
Silk Underwear Popular
 Five years ago few men wore silk underwear. Now a questionnaire sent out by the Associated Knit Underwear manufacturers reveals that 2,500,000 males in the United States wear such flimsy garments. AMUSEMENTS

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," Peter B. Kyne's enchanting story of the South Sea Islands, will be shown at the Met theater for three days beginning Monday, according to an announcement made by the management yesterday.

This picture, a Cosmopolitan production, directed by the celebrated French director, Maurice Tourneur, was pictured in Tahiti and Moorea, two of the famous islands of the South Sea group. The cast includes such prominent players as Anita Stewart, Bert Lytell, Huntly Gordon, Justine Johnstone, George Siegmann, Lionel Bolmore, William Norris, Emily Fitzroy, Princess Marie de Bourbon and Florence Turner.

Perhaps never in the history of moving pictures has there been a story filmed against such gorgeously beautiful backgrounds as those which appear in "Never the Twain Shall Meet." Filled with all the magic and romance associated with life in the South Sea, this photoplay sounds an entirely new note in the literature and drama of motion pictures.

In the role of Tamea, the half-caste island princess, Anita Stewart appears in a characterization thoroughly suited to her enchanting personality—a portrayal which calls for many phases of dramatic intensity, varied with comedy situations. Bert Lytell plays opposite Miss Stewart in the role of Dan Pritchard.

The production is lavish in the extreme, and as the picture develops on the screen there is a breadth and freedom, a tropical magic and a pictorial panorama of loveliness never before visualized with a moving picture camera. In addition to a wealth of scenic beauty there is an equal beauty in the exotic interior setting, designed by the masterful hand of Joseph Urban.

"Never the Twain Shall Meet," is distributed by Metro-Goldwyn.

Talking movies and a hat band that doesn't get streaked by the rain are two of the world's needs not yet supplied, according to the British Institute of Patentees. The institute has just issued its booklet on "What's Wanted" as a guide to inventors who may be slightly uncertain as to what to invent.

Many of the items listed have been suggested by the war office, the air ministry, post office and other British government departments. Industrial concerns have also offered suggestions of inventions which would be valuable to manufacturers and artisans.

The list includes a noiseless airplane, better motor car headlights, processes for instantaneous color photography, elimination of rust and transmission of speech by light; also a method of conveying speech directly and readably to paper.

Regular Customer

Dagerburg Cohen, the Duluth financier, said at a banquet of bankers in Duluth:

"Some people treat banks like—well, let me tell you a story.

"Hello, George. Was it you I saw going into the Grangers' bank this morning?" said one man to another.

"Yes, it was me, all right," said George.

"Did you make a deposit?"

"No, sir."

"Drew something out, hey?"

"Nope."

"What did you do, then?"

"I filled the family fountain pens."

Historic Rocking Chair

The old rocking chair in which Rev. Samuel Francis Smith sat when he wrote the hymn "America" has been acquired by the Phillips Andover academy. Smith was a student at the Andover Theological seminary, then a part of the academy, when, in 1832, he composed the patriotic song. He is said to have written the words in half an hour. The chair, long in possession of his descendants, once was carried to California, but has returned to stay.

STRANGE LEGENDS THAT HAVE GROWN ABOUT EASTER

Many curious and beautiful legends are associated with Easter and Holy Week, some of them dating from the days when the peoples of Northern Europe worshipped Eostre, or Ostera, the Spring goddess, whose name is still preserved in the word "Easter."

In a few remote places the legend lingers that the sun dances in the skies when it rises on Easter morning. Some of the Irish peasantry even now rise before dawn and go out to a hilltop to watch the "sun dance," for it is said that those who do so will get their wishes.

At one time the belief prevailed throughout the British Isles. Herrick refers to "the dancing Easter Day," but even in his time people were beginning to doubt if the phenomenon really occurred, for Sir Thomas Browne in his Vulgar Errors, published in 1646, says: "We shall not, I hope, disparage the Resurrection of our Redeemer if we say that the sun doth not dance on Easter Day."

Throughout Europe, colored eggs are exchanged on this festival, in token of the Resurrection, for even in pre-Christian times, an egg was regarded as a type of new life, and the ancient Egyptians and Persians exchanged dyed or painted eggs at their Spring festivals, when all the world seems to speak of Resurrection after the cold and darkness of the Winter.

Eggs dyed red were regarded as particularly symbolical of the death and resurrection of our Lord. Originally the Easter eggs given to children were real ones, tinted red, purple, green or yellow, or covered with gold leaf. Egg-rolling is an old Easter Monday amusement in the north of Europe, and the custom has travelled to America.

FIGHTING SMALLPOX IN CENTRAL AFRICA

Smallpox is a terrible plague when it breaks out, as it does, among the native in Central Africa. There is one small woman over there, Miss Tessie Williams (who recently visited the United Christian Missionary society's headquarters here, being employed by this board), who is doing her best to make Africa smallpox-proof. She vaccinated 646 natives in one day, considering it a very good missionary stunt. Her method of describing it was like the assembling of fabulous numbers of autos as witnessed in a well known factory. They stood in a line an eighth of a mile long. One native administered the soapsuds, scrubbing the arm clean; another scraped the skin, ready for the inoculation; a third kept the young missionary supplied with apparatus. Nothing but sleeveless costumes are worn in that part of Africa, and, despite the hurry of it, there were no infections or other ill effects.—Detroit Free Press.

Give Right of Way

Workers on public highways should always be given the right of way. The heavy machines used for roadwork are not easily turned from one side of the road to the other and motorists are expected to make way for them.

Hallways That Charm

THE hallway of the home is like a first meeting. From it the stranger gets an instant impression as to the character of the rest of the house. So, this little room of introduction should receive thought and care in the matter of its decoration and arrangement.

Let the floor furnish the key in planning a decorative scheme. Wide boards look best when painted whereas a parquet or hardwood floor should be varnished. Black is effective for floor-painting. With this combine walls painted a pale grey and woodwork and stairs a slightly deeper tone. Top the grey spindles of the stairway with a black-painted hand-rail, and on the stairs lay a crimson carpet, repeating this color in the window-drapes of silk or rep and in the rug. Paint the console table, or small desk, and a couple of straight chairs black. A deep-blue bowl of crimson flowers would add an effective touch.

A light-colored parquet or hardwood floor is a good setting for mahogany furniture. In such a setting it is appropriate to use a mahogany - finished hand - rail on a cream - colored staircase, also painting the walls cream and giving the woodwork a mahogany finish. A green stair-carpet, rug and curtains would fit charmingly into the picture.

MOTHER

Of Seven Children Is Killed By Fanatic.

Painsville, O., April 2.—(UP.)—A charge of first degree murder was lodged today against George Wargo, 59, who shot and killed Mrs. Annie Sabo, 34, at whose home he boarded, because "she refused to cook cabbage for my supper."

The shooting occurred in the presence of Mrs. Sabo's seven panic stricken children, the youngest of whom, Julia, was wounded by a stray bullet. The death of Mrs. Sabo, who was a widow, left the children orphans.

Wargo had boarded at the Sabo home for several months according to neighbors who summoned police when they heard shots. The officers arrived just in time to prevent a mob seizing the enraged man.

Wargo today apparently was unperturbed over the shooting and his arrest.

"I don't care if she is dead," he told his jailers defiantly. "Whatever happens means nothing to me."

County officials were concerned today over the disposition of the children who are now wards of the county.

U. S. KITE EXPERTS ENVY OF SMALL BOY

Get Data From Sky for Nation's Aviators.

Washington, Neb.—The small boy likely would view as the finest kind of play the important meteorological work carried on by the staff of the kite station at the Drexel observation bureau here.

For from the kite house in the center of an unobstructed 40-acre field kites as big as a woodshed are flown on piano wire, sometimes six or seven on a single strand, the highest quite out of sight.

C. S. Ling, veteran government meteorologist in charge, has six assistants who devote all their time to kiting. Scarcely a dozen days a year fall to see the kites aloft, where they remain five or six hours.

Gets Data From Clouds.

The instrument carried up is called a meteorograph. Weighing but two pounds, this aluminum cylinder records wind velocity, direction, altitude, humidity, temperature and the amount of static electricity encountered. The information transcribed from its recordings is for use in future forecasting, for possible military flying information in future years and for immediate information to army and navy mail aviators. To the latter daily information has been furnished for several months, but no regular weather forecasts are issued.

From the circular six-ton kite-house, which revolves like an astronomical observatory and has sliding round doors, the kites are put up. A large drum, bearing eight miles of piano wire, is operated by an electric motor. The whole is insulated against static electricity.

Unlike the small boy's kite, with which he must run a few yards to get it up, the weather kites are taken down the field a short distance and given a boost. The drum pulls the kite into the teeth of the wind at a speed of 11 miles an hour and the box kite scoots upward.

However, aloft a few hundred feet, the kite begins to sag as its load of piano wire increases. Additional kites are then strung on at thousand-foot intervals, each with its own lead wire of a hundred yards or so. As many as half a dozen kites soon dot the sky, each perhaps in a different wind level and each tugging an opposite direction from the main line. But the load is distributed and the top kite carries on its work of supporting the meteorograph.

Bear Weather Tales.

The kites are rectangular in shape. Their greatest dimension is eight feet. The corner struts are half-inch straight-grained spruce. The muslin covering is drawn to drum-head tautness. The only tails they bear are the "weather tales" they bring down.

Frequently a kite a mile aloft breaks away. Directed by a label on the side the finder usually returns the kite at once. Only 5 per cent of lost kites fail to reappear. However, when the wire breaks at the winch a swishing steel tail trails along with the fleeing kites, playing havoc with rural phone lines and fences.

Seldom is the wire hit by lightning, but the static, which causes grief to radio fans, frequently reaches 40,000 to 50,000 volts on the wire. It is safely led off through a grounded escape wire.

Thirty-inch hydrogen-filled rubber balloons are released several times daily at Drexel. Watched through theodolites, their course is plotted, and from this are deduced details of the upper air strata.

Drexel also provides kites for other stations. Dahl Baxter, who has made weather kites most of his life, operates the kite shop. Fifty-two completed kites fill the loft of a large shop.

DR. HOWARD JONES

Addressed Rotarians At Weekly Luncheon.

Members of the local Rotary Club, at their weekly luncheon at the Boggs Hotel yesterday were addressed by Dr. Howard Jones, whose subject was "Education."

One of the hobbies of Dr. Jones is a study of the early history of our state and the life of the Indians who inhabited it and also of the early settlers. To study by Dr. Jones means to know and he has been making talks to different organizations throughout the State for the past two years on subjects relating to this knowledge.

His talk of yesterday was very entertaining and instructive and while imparting valuable information, also suggested a memorial in the form of a statue be placed in the yard of the High School or in another prominent place, to one of the greatest and among the first educators this country ever knew, Mr. Caleb Atwater, who was also a resident of this city.

Suddenly Lost Desire for That Porterhouse

Abe Schwartz looked up quickly as a shabbily dressed colored man entered his grocery and meat market in Irvington and demanded "the best and thickest porterhouse steak what you got."

The customer held his fingers apart, indicating about two inches. Then he hesitated an instant.

"About how much would it cost for one that thick?" he queried.

"Well, it would run somewhere close to 75 cents."

The colored man gave a long, shrill whistle, then exclaimed:

"W-w-what—seventy-five? Oh, man, jes' give me a nickel's worth of liver.—Indianapolis News.

Getting Things Mixed

Grandmother had been telling Rosemary stories that ended with, "And they all lived happily ever afterward."

On returning from Sunday school Rosemary was telling her mother the lesson story. The lesson was the story of the "Lost Sheep." She told how the Good Shepherd had counted his sheep, had found that one was missing and had gone in search of it. Calling and searching, resting and searching again, he had at last found the lost sheep and carried it home in his arms.

And, added the little maiden in a very cheerful voice, "they all lived happily ever afterward."

Clear Enough

"Speaking of funny signs," said a traveling man, "I saw one in a small town a short time ago that made me laugh. It seems that the post office was moved some distance in the village. In the window of the old location there was a big sign which read: 'We've moved from where we were to where we are.' It wasn't intended to be funny. It was a plain statement of fact that the painter thought was sufficiently explicit. In that place, and to one who was familiar with the situation it was enough. Everyone knew just where the office was."

It's a long time since we have seen a man with a tooth brush in his vest pocket.

"Lively Heat" for Better Cooking

RED STAR

Detroit Vapor Oil Stove

For many years engineers have sought a way to produce from common kerosene the same vigorous "Lively Heat" that is produced by a bed of red-hot coals or a gas or electric burner.

Red Star Engineers finally found the way. The Red Star patented "Lively Heat" Burner lifted the Red Star Oil Stove to a level with the coal, gas and electric range. It established new standards in oil stove cooking.

The Red Star cooks, bakes, broils and fries—to perfection. Starts cooking the instant burner is lighted. Means a cool kitchen in summer.

There is a size and type of Red Star for every home. Size for size they cost no more than any good oil stove.

RICHES CAN BE ACQUIRED VERY QUICKLY

Rev. Charles A. Glass Delivered Impressive Sermon
on Friday Night.

"I counsel thee to buy of me gold
tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed and that the shame
of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see." Revelation 3:18.

This counsel that we are considering tonight my friends, is of great importance to you and to me. Let me show you that it is of great importance to give heed to this counsel, first of all because of who it is, who speaks
to you. Oh, think who it is who offers to counsel you and me tonight!
Think of what it means to have God Himself offering to counsel us! He cannot be prejudiced, and even tho all
others may be turned against you you can come to him. He is able to do for us what no other can, and that wonderful God says to you tonight, "I
counsel you."

Not only is it important to heed the
counsel because of him who gave it,
but because of the counsel he gives.
"I counsel thee to buy of me gold
tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich." Now listen, the meaning here
is grace, power, that will enable you
to live the kind of life God would have you live. What gold is to the rich, and greater than gold to the rich, is
the grace of God to the human life,
and He wants us to have enough to be rich. When one has the real thing He has something to make him go thru with his head up. Brother, God wants
that we should have something that will keep us sweet, keep us going thru
something that will keep our hearts
like a flint no matter what the circumstances may be.

Sunday Services

Sun-rise prayer meeting, Sunday morning at 6. Everybody welcome.
Come and begin the day with God.
Bible school at 9 a. m. followed by sermon by Rev. Charles A. Glass at 10:15. Junior E. L. C. E. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Senior E. L. C.
E. Sunday evening at 6:15 following at 7:15 with song service and sermon by Rev. Charles A. Glass. A special offering will be taken for our Parent Missionary society Sunday morning.
Plan to attend all of these services is possible. Come early to avoid the rush as we expect this to be a great day for God.

SOME MOVE AHEAD

"Do you believe all men are born equal?"

"Of course I do—but they don't all stay that way."

Wise Guy

At trying to meet expenses he was never known to shirk.
He looked until he found a job—
Then sent his wife to work.

Failed

Mrs. Nextdoor—My daughter plays the piano. Perhaps you've heard her?
Mrs. Newcome (with great self-restraint)—I've heard the piano.
"Yes, my daughter Mary is very musical."
"Ah! You have two daughters, then?"

A Substitute

Customer—I want two pounds of fourpenny nails.

New Clerk—We're all out of four-penny nails, but I can let you have four pounds of twopenny nails.—
Good Hardware.

An Exception

She (after the quarrel)—You used to say that you liked to see me in anything.
He—I hadn't seen you in a rage
then.

A Connoisseur

Liza—My man's a lazy fellow; he's got about the softest job in town.
Jane—Why, what does he do?
Liza—He's the tester in the mattress factory.—California Pelican.

Simply Innate

"Titewad has an instinct for money, hasn't he?"
"Has he? He could hear a dime drop in a boiler factory."

INVESTMENT IN GOOD APPEARANCE

For Easter Rites ♦ ♦ Smart Style's Right

It's dress up or 'fess up these days. For it's a distinct confession of indifference when a man neglects his appearance.
Whether it's for the Easter Parade or the daily march to business headquarters, a good appearance is a letter of credit. Our smart showing of sensible styles comes

SHE WAS A PASSION FLOWER OF THE SOUTH SEAS

They loved each other. Each sought to put aside the barriers of convention that stood in their way

—but across the blue lagoons of her tropic land Fate sent the ancient warning,
"Never the twain shall meet."

Here is the pathos and drama of great sacrifice. Here a picture that will give you happiness.
